The Peapack-Gladstone Art Festival, located at Liberty Pond on Main Street in picturesque Peapack, New Jersey, has been an annual event since 2000. Artists exhibit their work in a serene park setting against a background of soothing water. Over the last nine years, the art festival has grown in popularity with both exhibitors and patrons. On the 10th anniversary of this event we hope to have even more artists and visitors. Sponsored by the Borough's Recreation Commission, the Art Festival is a showcase for a large variety of fine arts and crafts as well as an chance to introduce talented student artists. This event offers an opportunity to meet and talk with the individual artists. Live entertainment and a children's art and play area, also make this a perfect family outing in the park.
